The range is comprehensively written in an easy to understand, clear manner and is aimed at the doityourselfer. In this particular manual you can learn how to carry out routine maintenance, restoration and servicing as the book is based on specific teardown and rebuilds. Photographs accompany the stepbystep instructions which have been written from actual experience. The company's motorcycles are currently manufactured and distributed by TI Cycles, based in India. BSA was once the largest motorcycle manufacturer in the world, with their first being built in 1910. The 1972 model of the Rocket 3 featured a fivespeed gearbox and offered solid performance on the road. Another popular model was the M21, which had a powerful 600 cc engine and was used in World War II by the British Army.

Haynes has a wide selection of BSA motorcycle repair manuals available; all of which are written by qualified experts and packed with comprehensive guidance on full scale servicing and repairs. Drain the oil tank and disconnect both oil pipes at the point where they join the bottom of the timing chest, close to the oil pump. Remove also the sump plate and gauze from the base of the crankcase, which is retained by four small nuts and washers. This will permit all excess oil to drain from the crankcase. Remove the cutout lead from the end cover of the magneto. Remove the chain guard over the final drive chain and the chain itself, by withdrawing the spring link unit construction models only. The engine of the swinging arm models is retained in the frame by four bolts, two of which pass through the front engine plates and two through the rear. When these bolts are withdrawn, the engine can be lifted forward and upward until it is clear of the frame. Later models will have metal cases that surround the dynamo still in position. Special care is necessary to prevent the dynamo clamp from fouling the right hand frame tube during the lifting out operation. If they are wearing thin or unequally, they must be replaced. When they are clear of the brake plate the return springs should be removed and the shoes replaced. It is possible to replace the brake linings fitted with rivets and not bonded on, as is the current practice. Much will depend on the availability of the original type of linings; service exchange brake shoes with bonded on linings may be the only practical form of replacement. If new linings are fitted by riveting, it is important that the rivet heads are countersunk, otherwise they will rub on the brake drum and be dangerous. Finish off by chamfering off the end of each shoe, otherwise fierce brake grab may occur due to the pickup of the leading edge of each lining.

Before replacing the brake shoes, check that the brake operating cam can be removed for greasing by unscrewing the nut on the end of the brake operating arm and drawing the arm off so that the cam spindle can be withdrawn from the inside of the brake plate. Even gives measurements for a engine rebuild jig. Not sure where to exactly find that information. Well we understand your concern, which is exactly why we made this page dedicated to providing you with parts numbers for vintage Triumph, BSA, and Norton motorcycles. Below you will see many parts books catalogs for vintage Triumph, Norton and BSA motorcycles. Once you have obtained the part number you found using the parts books below, you can simply enter the original part number into our websites search bar. Below are some examples. Part numbers should have a total of 4 digits after the dash and two digits before the dash. Since we have 9753 you must add two zeros before the 53. 970053 is the part number. On this page you can learn a little bit about Mr Richards and what lead to him founding the largest British Motorcycle Museum in the world. Our authors and technicians work out the best methods.Williams machines were of high quality, but. Every year BSA issued a parts book that covered all the models for that year up until 1952. In about 1950 they began to issue parts books for each model group that covered several years in one book.

These books covered more and more years until there were too many changes to be contained in one book and a new book was started. The problem for restorers wishing to return their machine to as built specification is that parts fitted to later years are, where suitable, listed for earlier machines with no mention of the earlier part. For example a cast widget may be fitted in 1950 but in 1951 it was changed to a sheet metal one and because they both do the same job the 1949 to 1953 parts book only shows the sheet metal one for all years. A 1949 to 1953 parts book may be taken to be correct for a 1953 model but may well be quite inaccurate for a 1949 model. In the multiple year parts books if a year is given after the description of the part, this usually means up to or from that year and you will need to check the other descriptions, and read between the lines. BSA, in common with other manufacturers, began the model year in the previous August and some of the parts book dates refer to the year of manufacture not the model year. We have tried to correct this anomaly in the list below. If you are unsure of the year of your BSA we can check your engine and frame numbers against our lists. Each sheet covered a different aspect of maintenance, overhaul or information; sometimes for just one model but sometimes for the whole range. Our reprints contain all the relevant sheets for a particular model group but many of the sheets are in more than one collection. The complete set of service sheets is a large looseleaf book; if you are interested in obtaining a complete set please enquire. The restoration guides give a lot of detail on how to restore and on yearly changes. The other books are arranged chronologically and cover the history of the various model groups. We can supply these if required. Owners guides are what would have been issued with the motorbike from new. This covers greasing points, oil levels, tyre pressures etc.

The Service sheets are an old version of a Haynes manual. They are very good and our preferred manual. Back in the day, a garage would call up BSA, say they were rebuilding the gearbox, BSA would send them Service Sheet No 101 which covered just the gearbox. We have combined all of the Service Sheets into one Super Service Sheet. The ultimate companion for any rebuild, well,second companion after your favourite drill.
